BAN FRANCISCO.

Washington, 22nd December. Joseph Nimmo has written a letter to the National Republican of this city in which he explains the importance of fortifying the harbour of San Francisco. The peninsula of San Francisco is a veritable Gibraltar from a military point of view, and besides, it occupies a position of inestimable importance commercially.

The Board on Fortifications and Other Defences in its report rendered January 23, 1886, estimated the cost of the adequate defences for San Francisco at $27,886,150, which includes $10,725,000 for "floating batteries" and other armament.
